THE TRI-WEEKLY YEOMAN.

Correspondence.
LOUISA, KENTUCKY,
July 15, 1861.

Editor Frankfort Yeoman: I thought perhaps you would like to know something in regard to the doings of Col. Wood's 2d Kentucky (alias Dutch) regiment in western Virginia. About 1000 Northern troops based at Guyandotte, Calloway county, Virginia, a few days since. Their first business was to arrest all men who were known to sympathize with the South in this war. Most of the Southern men, however, escaped, being informed of their approach. The next thing they did was to test and drive across the Ohio river all the movable property belonging to the citizens of the county. They were announced by a private house in Guyandotte belonging to T. W. Everett, which was from time to time destroyed everything they could lay hands upon. They destroyed a fine piano and sewing machine belonging to Mrs. Everett, killed her poultry, and I do not other damages to her property. They rolled a jeweler's store of jewelry to the value of three hundred dollars.

After pillaging the town to their heart's content, they took up their line of march to the river, where they crossed at Calloway co-nity. As they were approaching the town they were met by two hundred citizens of Wayne and Calloway counties, together with a company of cavalry commanded by A. G.
Graham, numbering one hundred men. An engagement took place. The result of the battle showed sixty killed on the Northern side and many wounded, and one killed and two wounded on the Virginia side. The Virginians fired from a hill in good position. The cause of the person killed on the Virginia side was Ray. He was a very old man —75 years. One of the wounded men was named Ballinger, a resident of Wayne county. It is thought he will recover. I do not recollect the other names. The Virginians retreated after firing three rounds. The Northern troops are now marking men, shooting over all the time. They are well armed. The Virginians were armed with common mountain rifles.

This Kentucky regiment is made up entirely of low Dutch and Irish. Col. Wood is regarded by the Virginians as a brave and courageous officer. Owing to the robbing and destructive requisites of Lincoln's troops, the citizens in the counties of Wayne and Calloway are afraid to stay at home at night.
The women and children pass their nights and most of the day concealed in the woods. A great many have taken their families to Kentucky for safety.

I have observed in my tour of duty, that the Northern troops are very well and orderly in their conduct.
They are well equipped in the various arms. The Northern troops are kinder in their conduct than the Southern troops. The whole country is under an expectation of a peaceful result. It is thought that the Northern troops are large forces there.

YE-WITNESS.

The Devil of Abolition Showing his Horns.

The mischievous pet on who presides over the columns of the Daily Times has by some blunder managed to tell the public some trials. Truth be told, from which locality he seems to have fled without stopping, until he reached this city, he has revealed the secrets of his fellow abolition conspirators, as they were confided to him at the national capital, and we find the truth as at last that there is one thing, and only one, and THAT IS THE NEGRO. We transcribe The Times entire, and commend it to the careful consideration of all good citizens.

The Real Issue is a Propriety—There is a divinity shaping the course of this war, and we must accept its fortunes and its misfortunes with equal trust and hopefulness.
There is one thing, and only one, at the bottom of the fight—and that is the NEGRO. And yet both North and South are studiously ignoring the fact, and deceiving themselves and trying to deceive the world as to the cause of quarrel. The South pretends to be fighting for independence—but it is fighting for the establishment of human bondage as the basis of republican government. The North, or loyal States, claim to be fighting for the re-establishment of the Constitution and laws, and to have no thought of property or social institutions in their minds. But they know that with slavery changes its relation to Government, and becomes its complete barrier, instead of its arrogant master, the peace and safety of the Republic are impossible.

If our army had been victorious at Richmond, and ended this war on a false basis; both parties ignoring to the last the cause of the war. The God that rules over all, and does exact justice in the end to bond and free, would not permit a compromise of this sort to foretell his providence. And he has availed the nation, as by the shock of an earthquake.

Had anything short of our unexpected repulse at Manassas have quickened the conscience and judgment of twenty millions of people in regard to this conflict. The ghost of long murdered liberty to millions of men, and despairing captives, lures its limb, and haunts our army, and frights it to panic and flight. Now shall we learn, anew and rightly, our position and duties. We have an enemy to meet who has long defied God and man—who has for generations outraged justice and humanity—and who threatens to extend his whole continent the domination of his rule. Shall we strike the monster where he is vulnerable? Shall we thrust in our spear where the cancer of his crime invites to surgery? Shall we fight the devil with fire, according to the wisdom of the ancients? Let a paralyzed army and a reeling nation answer These paragraphs need no comment.
They speak trumpet-tongued for themselves.
They are the proclamation of the Republican party, by the mouth of one of its organs, that the war between the North and the South is not for the preservation of the Union, but to accomplish a monstrous revolution in which will overturn every right guaranteed to the Southern States by the Constitution.

N. Y. News, 25th.

The New York World, a strong Black Republican paper, writing four days after the battle, commenting on the defeat at Manassas, says:

Say what we may, the affair was a disgrace, and so we all feel it. Not much that it was a retreat. There is not necessarily any shame in that. The best commanders and the best troops often find it necessary to retreat before superior numbers; and when such a retreat is well conducted, as was done by Col. Sigel, in Missouri, it is far from being dishonorable, it may be positively glorious.
But the stigma here is that it was not a retreat at all. A retreat is a falling back.
It may be rapid or slow, but in a military sense, it always involves a certain degree of order.
The term is not to be applied to such a harassment, better-sheer, pell-mell stampede as was seen on the Fairfax (virginia) last Sunday evening. A retreat implies presence of mind, as well as concert of movement.

There was none. Terror had destroyed it. Panic was supreme. Even had a retreat before superior numbers been a military necessity—which does not yet appear—there was no necessity of leaving behind a single wounded man, or of losing a single cannon, or musket, or knapsack. Had a stand from time to time been made—which a retreating army of the slightest spirit whatever is sure to make when hotly pressed—great injury might have been inflicted and much injury prevented. The turning of the Zeigler upon the Black Horse Cavalry with such effect sufficiently illustrates this. The blind headlong flight in fact continued long after the pursuit had ceased. The affair, dishonorable enough in the beginning, in the end became superlatively disgraceful. It will rest in the pages of history as a blot upon Northern character, unless the Northern people themselves disavow it. They cannot leave that stain to be hereafter pointed at as the extent of Northern courage. It would be certain to draw upon us a contempt utterly fatal to our standing and influence among the nations, and from which not a national right that we have would be safe for a day.

[Special to the Cincinnati Commercial.]

The Difficulty between Burnett and Richardson —Richardson Accuses Impatient Congressmen and Cabinet Officers of Forcing Scott to Make Forward Movement.—Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, July 21.

In Congress there was a very stirring scene yesterday between Burnett of Kentucky, and Richardson of Illinois, the latter charging the former with being an enemy to his country and its laws and government. Burnett very excitedly rejoined, making the matter personal. Richardson said, so help him God, if the gentleman desired a personal controversy with him, he could have it anywhere.

Valleydigham said, "When the enemy was within earshot of the Capital, it was unwisely to hear such talk in the House." [Cries of "shaw, shaw."] Richardson, after looking down Burnett, and using him up completely, proceeded to censure Republicans for distrusting General Scott, who had fought the late battle against his judgment. "Whose fault was it?" If such things are permitted to continue, they would destroy the Government. "Unless you rally around him the country will not support you." He said he would have no quarrel with a cavalier, you would have had a victory without fighting a battle.

He asked, if General Scott was fit to command, could he be forced into battle against his own judgment. Nobody had impeached Gen. Scott but the gentleman himself. Mr.
R. "I take it all back—and he proceeded to say he was present, when in presence of the President, Gen. Scott implied that the Cabinet had forced him into the late engagement.
He said he should have resigned, and that it had been forced against his best judgment.
Richardson added: "Abraham Lincoln was an honest man if he alone, but he feared he had not the power to stand up against the wily politicians surrounding him. (Great sensation.)

A Change in the Cabinet, the Result of Our Defeat at Manassas!

We are puzzled to keep pace with the Republican politicians. Read the following from the New York Tribune of the 22d inst.

"We have fought and been beaten. God forgive our sins that this is so, but it is true and cannot be denied. The Cabinet recently expressing in rhetoric letter, added to a love letter, a fear of being drowned in its own honors on the high seas has only been saved by our daring and desperate energy, and belonging to the merchant marine. The sacred soil of Virginia is crimsoned and wet with the blood of thousands of Northern men, needlessly shed.
The great and universal question pervading the public mind is: 'Shall this condition of things continue?'

A DECEASED AND INDIGNANT PEOPLE WILL DEMAND THE IMMEDIATE RETIREMENT OF THE PRESENT CABINET FROM THE HIGH PLACES OF POWER, which, for one reason or another, they have shown themselves incompetent to fill. Give us for the President, capable advisers, who comprehend the requirements of the crisis, and are equal to them; and, for the army, leaders worthy of the rank and file, and our banner, now dropping well soon float once more in triumph over the whole land. With the right men to lead, our people will show themselves unconquerable."

[From the Virginia Sentinel.]

How they Talk in Virginia.

People of Virginia and the South—it is years to meet unbecoming tyranny and demoniac ferocity with uncommon fortitude and dauntless courage! It is yours to respond to the savage yell and pirate's shout, the wolf howl and the robber's boast, by a cool determination, a resolve rooted down in the soil, a courage that shall rise with every occasion, and a trust in the favor of heaven, that shall win you the victory and turn back your foes in shame and discomfiture! Remember! You are fighting for every thing that is dear to man!
You are fighting to escape the domination of the most odious tyranny that ever threatened any people—a tyranny that will not let men even think in peace! You are fighting for your liberties! You are fighting for your homes, which Greeley already has resigned as rewards to the men when he sends to eat your throats.

You are fighting for your lives.
You are fighting against men who are showing their dark souls, more venomous spirits, more cruel designs, and more malignant hate than the animals of civilized war have ever revealed, and such as the savages who, formerly rained over our forests rarely equalled.
In such a contest, every man among us will be a giant and a hero! A virtuous indignation will nerve his arm, and a resolve to conquer or die will fire his soul. Then prepare for the conflict, and God defend the right!

STATES RIGHTS TICKET.

FOR STATE SENATE—20TH DISTRICT, HON. THOMAS P. PORTER,
OF WOODFORD.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE OF FRANKLIN COUNTY, CAPT. THOMAS STEELE.

(Regular Election, first Monday in August.)

THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1861.

Mr. Crittenden and the War.

Respect by the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States. That the present deplorable civil war has been forced upon the country by the disunionists of the Southern States, now in revolt against the constitutional government, and in arms around the Capital.

That in this national emergency, Congress, banishing all feelings of passion and mere resentment, will recollect only its duty to the whole country.

That this is not a war waged on their part in any spirit of oppression, nor for any purpose of conquest or subjugation, nor purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of these States, but to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and to preserve the Union with all the dignity, equality, and rights of the several States unimpaired; and that as soon as these objects are accomplished, the war ought to cease.

We promptly published the foregoing when it first appeared in the telegraphic dispatch, but we refrained any commentary upon it, fearing the telegraphic report might prove inaccurate. Now that we have the resolution in its perfect form, we have a few words to say upon it.

This resolution was introduced into the House by our own Representative, Mr. Crittenden, who, elected to Congress, we were proud by his patriotic in the canvas, would bring his early career, and by his honorable influence, would pass measures through Congress for the reconstruction of the Union. We do not claim that he should be held responsible for the silly phrases of his shallow friends. It is enough to hold him to his own pledges; and we have too much of the sense of justice to judge him by any other standard than his own acts. He is the undisputed author of the resolution which stands at the head of this article. On that, we have to say, first, that its whole scope is, according to our understanding, utterly inconsistent with the professed object of the Border Slave States Address, which looked to peaceful, not warlike measures, for the restoration of the Union; and second, even if we misapprehended the object of the Border Convention, of which Mr. Crittenden was President, the predicate laid down in the above resolution is both true and groundless. We deny that this deplorable civil war has been forced upon the country by the disunionists of the Southern States now in revolt against the constitutional government, and in arms around the capital; and of course we reject all deductions drawn from the unwarranted assumption. The war was the necessary consequence of the unconstitutional aggressions made upon the South by the North. We need not recite the long list of such aggressions. They are sufficiently indicated in the amendments to the Constitution and the additions to the Statutes, proposed by Mr. Crittenden himself, when, before this coercive war actually began, he felt himself at liberty to set out on his own convictions. We need no other record than that to show the origin of this unholy war waged by a Usurper and Military Despot to enforce the very aggressions upon the South which Mr. Crittenden's amendments were intended to repeal. And it is sufficient evidence of the injustice of the charge that this war was brought on by Southern disunionists, that the adoption of Mr. Crittenden's just measures would have prevented the war and preserved the Union. Jeff Davis himself, now President of the Confederate States, and Robert Toombs, now Secretary of State, both declared in the presence of Mr. Crittenden that the adoption of his measures would be satisfactory to the South. We believe they were honest in this declaration as was Mr. Crittenden in proposing his measures. We believe they as faithfully represented Southern sentiment and feeling in the declaration as did Mr. Crittenden Kentucky sentiment and feeling in offering his measures. We sincerely believe that Davis, Toombs, and other Southern leaders, as earnestly desired the preservation of the Union, on terms honorable and just to all sides, as did Mr. Crittenden himself. The difference between them was, as it seems to us, that while Mr. Crittenden deemed it desirable to secure the constitutional rights of the South by his amendments, they deemed it indispensable. He was willing to continue in the Union, though the constitutional rights of its members were subjected to continual aggression; they regarded a Union held together by mere force, failing in its objects, and debating the very ends for which it was formed, as not only not just government, but a mockery, a fraud and a tyranny, to which it was ruin and dishonor to submit. Mr. Crittenden, neither in the Border Convention nor in Congress, has renewed his propositions. It is no excuse to say they would be rejected by Congress and by the people of the North. That is true enough; but if they were just, he should have pressed them again, and again, and again, until by their moral force they prevailed. But instead of this, what has been done? He has offered and secured the passage of the above resolution by a House which has voted five hundred thousand men and five hundred million dollars for the prosecution of the war! History will welcome him to all the honors due to such a statesman-like achievement! Instead of any measure of peace, he has given us a denunciation of his Southern peers who labored earnestly to pass the measures which he deemed necessary, at one time, to preserve the Union, and who would have been content therewith, and following this most unkind and unjust denunciation, he gives us a programme for the prosecution of the war, the effect of which, instead of restoring fraternity, will embitter the hatred of the belligerents; instead of sustaining the Government, will destroy it; instead of reconstructing the Union, will shatter it into fragments! Else, does Mr. Crittenden, or any thinking man believe, or hope, that the brave people of the South, represented by the victors of Manassas, can be whipped into obedience to the rule of an acknowledged Usurper, to whom they would regard it both ruin and dishonor to submit? Mr. Crittenden ought to know—for it is the duty of statesmanship to study the temper of men—that the Southern people can die, but cannot submit to tyranny.

To say that this war was brought on by Southern disunionists, reaches not to the core of the matter. It is a shallow utterance, which neither statesmanship nor history will be content withal. It is about as respectable an assertion as would be the assertion of a British statesman or historian, that the American revolution was brought on by the rebels of Massachusetts, who opposed the armed forces of the then government at Lexington and Concord and Bunker Hill.

We do not at all question Mr. Crittenden's patriotism or devotion to the Union. We cordially concede both. But the rules by which he manifests them, are what we do question. His course, in our judgment, will not only not preserve the government and restore the Union, but lead to the utter destruction of both. The Government and the Union can only exist on the foundations of fraternity and mutual respect for the rights of the States. This war is utterly destructive of all that. A brave and free people cannot be subjected by the sword; and the only hope of the future rests in the recognition of the independence of the Confederate States.

Intestine War Among the Irrepressibles.
There is one sad symptom manifesting itself as a product of the terrible defeat of the Federal army at Manassas. The thirty-three Irrepressibles who unite in supporting the war policy of the Usurper, are getting up a very interesting quarrel among themselves, which, let it result as it may, respecting the wicked factions, cannot but be evil in good for the unhappy country cursed by the rule of a military despot and tyrant. The quarrel is on the point whether Gen. Scott or the Cabinet shall fall. They cannot both logically exist. Either the Cabinet must go under, or Scott will be relieved from the command. The old chief has emphatically thrown the blame of his shameful defeat at Manassas from his own shoulders and sublimed it on the Cabinet and this is an implied reflection on the Usurper, styling himself President. Making such an issue as this is utterly incompatible with his retaining the command, unless with the sacrifice of the Cabinet. If the Usurper sided with Scott and was overruled by a majority of his Cabinet, he may dismiss the latter and retain Scott. If otherwise, the Chief will at least be relieved, if not dismissed from service; for we do not believe he has the pluck to resign. The two parties have no doubt, have distrustful him from the first, and now that an issue is made up, growing out of their awful defeat at Manassas, they will not hesitate to make the old warrior a victim to their rage. The Cabinet and the General-in-Chief at war among themselves is a state of cess utterly inadmissible. Our opinion is that Scott will go under in this conflict. There is much significance in the announcement that Gen. McClellan is intrusted with almost plenary powers, substantially those of Commander-in-Chief. This is a partial degradation of Scott, and it will soon be made complete. But whatever direction the feud may take, the effect will be good for the country. The war party are the deadliest foes to the institutions and liberties of the country, and we chronicle their intestine feuds with joy and hope. It would be a blessing to mankind if they make the fight among themselves a complete Kilkenny-cut affair, leaving nothing but the ends of their tails on the battle ground.

The Legislature.

This is the last opportunity we shall have to speak to some of our readers in reference to the election. We have only to say to one and all—4) your duty to your principles and your country, and let the consequences take care of themselves. All will assuredly come right in the end. This Union—sublimation—coercive party, is ephemeral, and whatever its momentary triumphs will fade away like mist before the morning sun.

Attention!

The class which has for its object instruction, both theoretical and practical, in tactics, will meet the following evenings of each week at the armory of the Governor's Guards, at 12 o'clock, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

A prompt attendance on the part of every member is requested. aug 1-w

BARRISTER IN MERCEY.—A Grand Barrister will be given in Mercer county, near Harrodsburg, on Saturday, the 3d of August. Preparations will be made for ten thousand people.

Addresses will be delivered by Gov. C. S. MOREHEAD, Col. JOHN S. WILLIAMS, CAPT. WM. SIMMS, Major M'KEE, Hon. JAS. B. CLAY, Hon. A. G. TABBOTT, Hon. JOHN YOUNG BROWN, and other distinguished orators.

DEATH OF AUSTIN P. COX, ESQUIRE.—This gentleman, after a protracted illness, died on Sunday last, at an advanced age. He was at different times in the service of Kentucky as Secretary of State, Secretary of the Board of Internal Improvements, and in the Land Office, in all which positions he displayed business talents of high order.

There is one article in the last Commonwealth written in a gentlemanly tone and one that isn't, relating to the Yeoman. Before we saw either, we had written what we thought proper on the subjects propounded, which will be seen in these columns, and we see no occasion to offer other proof of the inaccuracy and untruth of our neighbors'ceptionable article.

The Cumberland Gap Expedition.

Since the publication of our article of last Saturday, we have received information on which we rely, that Jerry Boyle, who we supposed to be raising a regiment to march upon Cumberland Gap, has abandoned the enterprise. And Mr. Gil has personally assured us that his visit to Lexington was solely on railroad business, and that he neither attended the alleged meeting of Lt. Nelson, Garrett Davis & Co., nor approved the alleged object of it. We are happy to make these corrections. But we do not concur in the opinion of some that the scheme of entering into Kentucky to march to Cumberland Gap has been abandoned. We believe that it is still in progress. Some of the original movers have doubtless backed out; but the South enters is still being pressed on by others. The following copy of a placard furnished us two days ago, will throw some light on the movement:
